Lake County Cancer Crusade Will Sponsor Special Dinner Meeting

Can cancer be conquered? How will it be done? When can we expect a final solution? These are among the most frequently asked questions on the cancer problem today. Cancer will be conquered. But when? This can't be answered, not definitely, but it will be sooner, if more and more effort is poured into the job. This is one of the goals of the 1962 Cancer Crusade—to help the American Cancer Society raise funds in a record amount to advance this life-saving program.

Plans to support the nationwide attack on cancer will be discussed at the Lake County Cancer Crusade meeting at the Charcol House Restaurant in Waukegan at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 22, Mr. Arthur D. Kaufman, County Crusade Chairman, announced today.

Volunteers will discuss the dual mission of the American Cancer Society Crusade. Equally as important as collecting funds for further research is the distribution of literature which explains the danger signs of cancer and how to guard against the disease. Mr. Kaufman said. It is still a fact that twice as many cancer patients could be saved as are being saved today. And getting to the doctor in time is the best defense.

Vehicle Rolls, Writers Hurt

The editor of the Antioch News, Jay Nash, 27, and one passenger, Ray Fuechner, 29, a columnist for the Antioch News, were involved in a traffic accident which occurred early in the morning of Feb. 11.

Proceeding west on Rte. 173, one-half mile east of Savage road and coming upon an ice-covered slope, their vehicle went into an uncontrolled fishtail spin which resulted in a damaging crash.

The condition of the road, it was explained, did not allow for the passage of any vehicle traveling at moderate speeds.

The vehicle, which apparently skidded on to a dry spot in the road, was thrown to the side of the road, turning over on its side.

Both parties sustained minor injuries. A passing motorist drove the two into Antioch where the authorities were notified of the mishap.

The Waukegan sheriff's deputies attributed the accident to the icy pavement.

Nash was treated at the Antioch clinic for a separation in his shoulder and Fuechner for minor abrasions by Dr. Thain.

After the vehicle had come to rest on its side, the passengers explained, that since there were no other available exits, the two stepped out of the windshield.

The vehicle received total damage.

Lindenhurst Village Board To Purchase Flamethrower

The Lindenhurst Village Board meeting was held Monday, Feb. 12. The board voted to pay all bills presented at the meeting, the highest being $712 for snow removal in the month of January.

Mr. Peter Levas, a resident of Lindenhurst, complained to the board that a trench behind his house and surrounding his property posed a serious danger to his children. Levas stated that he did not know who dug the trench. The board said that it would look into the matter.

The police report given at the Rouse, Grayslake; Roy Forehand, Round Lake; Dave Yingst, Grant; Kevin Keenan, Lake Forest; and A. B. Lampe of Elmhurst, will act as a reviewing and co-ordinating board.

The general theme of the proposed conference is entitled "Strengthen the Northwest Conference Schools for the Sixties."

The specific topic to be discussed for the Sept. 28 meeting will be "Improving the learning process through better instruction with particular emphasis on recent trends, latest developments, studies, experiments, research, teaching techniques and methods."

Supt. A. L. Dittman was quoted as saying: "As far as I know this is the first time the schools have gotten together on something like this as a conference."

The Antioch Township High School Board, convening next Wednesday evening, Feb. 21, is expected to endorse the general plans of operation concerned with the conference project.

Antioch teachers attending the Round Lake conference, aside from Supt. A. L. Dittman and Asst. Principal Warren Polley, numbered 15 in all.

Man Slips on Icy Pavement

The Antioch Rescue Squad reports that Frank Mueller, 68, was treated in Antioch after suffering an accident which occurred Feb. 8 at 12:45 p.m.

Mueller, whose injuries were extended to his head and shoulders, toppled on a treacherous section of ice in front of his house.

His residence is located at Catherine and Grass Lake Roads. Dr. James Kopriva of Antioch was the attending physician.

A Waukegan area resident attended the recent annual meeting of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society at the Palmer House in Chicago. He is (center) Roy C. Truelson, Lake Villa, who is president of the Society's Northeastern Illinois Advisory Board associated with its branch office in Waukegan. Mr. Truelson is shown with (left) Mr. Beaumont Parks, Alton, and (right) Robert E. VanSickle, a trustee of the Society from Rockford.

meeting listed 8 arrests in January along with $55 in total fines paid and $32 in costs. Robert Spears then resigned from the police force stating that he had at the present time, two jobs which did not afford him the proper amount of time in his role as constable.

James Mazer and Donald Tuttle were instated as probationary police officers by the board. A suggestion was forthcoming requesting police officers to have physical examinations providing the expense for such was not too great. The Lindenhurst police chief reported that he would look into the cost.

Police uniforms of green, no longer being used by the Lindenhurst police force, will most probably go to Venetian Village's new force as per a suggestion made at the board meeting.

It was also stated that the Willow Park area required dredging in order to make the neighboring body of water a usable lagoon. Mr. Charles Palowski, a board member, was assigned to look into the cost of the project.

A discussion then ensued over the hiring of a full-time village employee to handle village work. The purchase of a tractor was also discussed.

A special meeting was set for Feb. 26 at which time the board would discuss cutting weeds. Alex Bartling was named chairman of the weed-cutting committee.

Then the board voted to buy a flame-thrower which would enable them to melt the ice and snow and also to burn out slough areas in the spring.

Robert Randall, representing St. Mark's Lutheran Church, asked that lights be installed on Grand Ave. near the church entrance.

The final act of the board for the evening was to vote that two lights be erected at that location.

EDITORIAL

THE RIGHT-WING MOVEMENT

The seemingly growing public concern over the American conservative movement actually comes as no surprise to us. The movement, now fostered by well-known military and political figures, has always existed.

It is only through the efforts of widely circulated magazines that this movement takes on a large-like proportions. These magazines, Time, Life, Look, Nation, New Republic, who are all predisposed editorially to the liberal-left political point of view, attempt to vindicate their own opinions by presenting their opposition as mud-slinging, war-mongering, stone-age thinking groups confined to pockets of discontent.

It is our opinion that leaders such as Robert Welch and Major-General Walker, although sincerely moved by their own convictions, do not necessarily represent the vast majority of American conservatism. These two, and others, enact the part of scapegoats while being used by the above-mentioned magazines to distort the image of the American right-wing.

The authentic representatives of the conservative movement, such as Senator Barry Goldwater, minority floor-leader Everett Dirksen, the late Styles Bridges, men in the tradition of the much-respected Robert Taft, find themselves maligned when seen in retrospect to the highly-publicized "radical" conservatives.

Basically, the conservative in America strives for the tight-knit family, a small-but-efficient federal government, a well-balanced economy, and a return to sane foreign aid policy.

The public looks upon the mass-meetings held by Walker and Welch not so much as honest political forums, but as freak-show exhibitions where screaming tirades promulgating political witch-hunts take the place of reasoned political gatherings where the listener is logically informed.

The popularity of authentic conservatives such as Goldwater, it seems to us, is tossed off by the liberal publications as the support of unknown, uninformed emotional Boy Scouts and fun-seeking college sophomores when seen in the light of their radical counterparts.

"The great liberal movement" of excessive spending, political sanctioning of all governments, and the rationalization of dying principles seems to have lost its luster for an awakened public. This is the actual reason for the trend towards conservatism.

The new political awareness, not fitting into the scheme of archaic forms of media in this country, has been heaped with scorn and laughter.

It is our opinion, however, that the authentic conservative movement, growing monthly to greater support, will override the inconsequential jeers of flippant political observers whose knowledge in this realm is limited. Proof of this trend as a solution will be forthcoming when the conservative truths are understood to be substantial and lasting beyond the holocaust of the present political situation. It is only through this understanding, we believe, that our government will evolve as an actual world-leader.

Your Gannan Reports

by OTTO KERNER

Illinois has a vital stake in the proposal soon to be considered by Congress—lowering the tariff barriers so that the United States can compete with the European Economic Community, frequently referred to as the Common Market. As the number one export state in the nation, our economy and future prosperity are closely linked to this great decision.

Briefly, President Kennedy has proposed that tariffs be lowered on a gradual basis over a period of the next few years. The proposal is staggering. It will be the most important issue debated in Congress this year. While a reflection of partisanship may enter this discussion, it is one of infinitely greater consequence. This is an American issue—perhaps the most momentous and far-reaching decision of our time.

Six countries now compose the European Common Market: West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, Netherlands and Luxembourg, Great Britain (United Kingdom) now has decided to join. Its admission will bring the population represented in the Common Market to 220 million persons. It will be greater than the U. S. or Russian markets. If Congress concurs in the president's recommendations, it not only will establish an economic union, it will be the basis for a firmer political union. It will drive a strong wedge of freedom into the forces of oppression marshaled against us.

The Illinois economy is directly related to foreign trade—it prospers as trade expands and withers as trade contracts. Approximately 80 per cent of all persons engaged in manufacturing in our state are with firms which fall in nine major classifications, all of which depend to a large degree upon export to foreign countries. Europe is our biggest and most dependable market for agriculture export. The U. S. Department of Commerce reports that in 1960, agricultural products from Illinois shipped to foreign markets amounted to $302,100,000.

By lowering tariff barriers, Illinois and U. S. produced goods will compete more effectively in the European market. The full extent of increased demands for our nation's products are difficult to adequately foresee.

The interests of Illinois and the United States are one—a common bond with other free nations of the world. It is inconceivable that we should maintain an economic wall between us. Walls and curtains are erected to hide behind and conceal ourselves. Such ramparts are the invention of the Communist bloc and are incompatible with an open American society.

Because this issue is one which will have a vital economic impact on every resident of Illinois, I hope to discuss this subject more explicitly in future reports.

What Is A "Beat"?

By Jay Nash

Several persons have asked me in the past week exactly what a beatnik or "beat" actually is, stating that they did not know what that meant. The appellation, although used in a loose-strung term today, can most adequately be applied against those who not only follow the regulations of the so-called original beats—sandals, coarse, heavy trousers, a sweater, beard, unkempt hair (males) and complete black garb for the female—leotards, black skirt and blouse, stringy-fashioned hair which purposely fall over one eye (Garbo, of course, did this bit in 1926) and an excessive use of mascara about the eyes.

These traits, however, are not representative of the authentic or in Andre Gide's sense "real" beat. The "real" beat is devoted to physical stimuli in the form of dope, alcohol, abnormal sex in order to produce the required (but false) feeling of aestheticism. (This aestheticism of today is simply a vague religion of beauty which goes undefined through the ranks of modern-day artists.)

Origin of the term, and almost the childish cult which followed, is traced to a few writers who lived in California in the 1950's. Actually this group was made up of no more than Jack Kerouac ("On the Road," "Maggie Cassidy," "The Subterraneans," etc.), Lawrence Ferlinghetti a basement-type publisher who produced mass amounts of mimeographed pornography before becoming a commercial success off of the movement, and Alan Ginsberg, a so-called poet who once penned something called "Howl" (a loosely-strung prose-poem in the Whitmanesque vein which was liberally peppered with what the state of California termed as "obscenities.") for it seems to me, the express purpose of provoking the authorities to take notice of him, even in a court of law.

Life magazine got hold of the obscenity suit which the state of California had perpetrated against Ginsberg and blew it to amazing proportions, thereby creating the image of an extremely talented group known as the "beat generation" for the American public.

In an age that demands classification and pigeon-holed definitions for every social, economical and political set, coterie or group, Life's Gertrude Stein-like expose was exactly made for the general concepts of the American public. Finally, after prolonged decades of quandary about who actually could be considered an artist, this country had an easily identifiable group of writers that anyone of average perception would be able to pick out on the street. The image of the bohemian was automatically distilled to the beat concepts of Ginsberg poetry, Kerouac prose, an almost frantic amount of progressive jazz, mixed with the physical attire and habits already mentioned.

As a "poor-picked-on artistic minority" the beats had found previous defense from other writers and artists not mixed with their movement but when the commercial success of books and records and interviews flourished about them, their defenders, always on the side of the minority, diminished to a few die-hards who still expected these hyper-beats to say something.

The beats picked as their totemic chiefs persons who held minority support also—in order to equate their positions to them. Charlie Parker, they hailed as a great musician. Not, I believe, because they enjoyed his playing of a beating saxophone, but because he took excessive amounts of dope (the results of which killed him) and thereby justified their using it. Henry Miller, whose scribbling in-anities was also lauded as one of their peers, purely because of the amount of sex he inserted into his writing, thereby vindicating their use of the same forced material.

Dylan Thomas was next. Being afflicted with an acute case of alcoholism, Thomas, who in himself was a great poet, was applauded by the beats because of his drinking and now for exactly what he wrote. I would venture to say that most of the dedicated beats never read Thomas, even though they carried pictures of him in their pockets. These three, along with similar but lesser persons, in their estimation, not mine, because the great exponents of the movement. They were used as propaganda fronts by the beats and their Madison Avenue promoters as forerunners to the movement, which, of course, they never were.

There were many other persons, other than Life magazine writers, responsible for the group's recognition. Malcolm Cowley, a once creditable literary critic, gave them a boost in The Literary Situation and has since been trying to live it down. Kenneth Rexroth, another critic, wrote a few articles on the group before he actually knew what they represented. (He says). The neurotic Norman Mailer, author of The Naked and the Dead, promoted them.

Wealthy persons, duped into believing that they were supporting a worthy artistic movement, financially backed some of their literary quarterlies but soon cancelled out after seeing that what these writers—Corso, Whalen, Ferlinghetti, Ker-

A vastly booming business field is descending upon us. That of the telephone solicitors! The door to door salesman of yesteryear was, at best, annoying and high pressure. But these smoothies on the Bell System have you tight where they want you. Curious! After you have dripped water all the way from your relaxing bath to stop that incessant tingle, they know you're going to say hello. Then and there you are trapped! A sweet, soft, cultured voice pronounces your name (as if you didn't know it already), and sexily announces her own, Miss Smith (or Brown or Jones). Frantically your mind searches to uncover who? When? Where? And all the time you are being tightly twisted into her web. Careful to never quite reveal what it is she called for, she tells you about a pleasant surprise. Now you've had it! You're freezing to death standing there, and the door-bell rings. So you say exactly what she figured you would, "Yes, they may call on you tomorrow" and bring your introductory surprise. And sister (or brother) have you got a surprise coming! That surprise turns out to be a modern version of the door to door salesman. He won't need to put his foot in your door, he's already got it in your mouth.

The list of our good townspeople who have trekked off to that tropical peninsula named Florida include the Bernard Osmonds, (the Boyd

Osmonds are already there), the Ernest Otis, (the Bob Gestons, and the Bessie Keulmans. And pretty soon it will be easier to list these of us who stayed home. (And not by choice either, huh!)

Our little old town is bigger than you think. Last week, Mrs. Betty Shepard flying back from a vacation in the west, found herself seated next to a soldier returning from overseas duty. After some conversation she found his name was Mickey Harr and he too was coming to Antioch. Just goes to show you, it's a big little town and a small old world.

That cool cat with the Hot Canary (Florian Zabach) was in Waukegan last week-end. After listening to him I'm convinced he took the stuffed shirt out of sympathy and made it possible for you and me to enjoy.

We around the office are taking up a collection for Ye Old Ed, Jay Nash. After his recent accident we'd like to do something for him. Like buying a scooter (or a pedometer).

Saw the surveyors working on Lake Street the other day. First stop in one more improvement in our business area. Messrs. Gibbs & Jensen will build a new building on the site owned by Mrs. V. Shunneson.

1962 CHEVROLET JOBMMASTER TRUCKS

built better...work longer!

When Chevrolet builds a truck, it builds a quality truck. This policy makes sense. Chevrolet trucks work a long time...cost less than many other makes to operate and maintain over the years...consistently bring a higher trade-in price...and, as a result, are bought by more people.

We invite you to come in and examine this quality closely and to take a 1962 demonstrator out for a good long test drive. Note the cab comfort, the good visibility, the smooth ride, the solid feel of its quality. Compare Chevrolet truck features with those of other makes. Then decide which are your wisest investment. We're sure it will be Chevrolet's.

Note how this Chevrolet cab roof is made of two sheets of metal, instead of one, with a layer of felt in between as insulation against cold, heat and noise.

A Chevrolet truck tailgate is sturdier because it has double-wall construction and strong steel chains in tough rubber casing to support it.

Quality independent front suspension fights road shock more effectively than other types—provides more protection for the truck, load and driver.

The standard 235-cu.-in. 6-cylinder Chevrolet truck engine has worked more miles than any other. There are nine more engines to choose from.

See your Chevrolet dealer for trucks that keep running and running!

SCOUT NEWS

GIRL SCOUTS
By Mrs. Raymond Claffy
Rt. 2-5000

The new Brownie Troop, started recently at Antioch Grade School, has been designated as Troop 102.

At their first meeting in the Scout House at 3:30 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 25, a very impressive investiture was held. Mrs. Charles Wysoglad introduced the neighborhood chairman, Mrs. George Sedivec, who led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag.

Mrs. Sedivec spoke on the importance of leadership and the committee, which is the backbone of the troop, and she then invested Mrs. Warren Beattie as leader, Mrs. Wayne Polsgrove as co-leader, and committee members Mrs. Charles Wysoglad, chairman, Mrs. Roy Nelson, Mrs. Harvey St. Cyr and Mrs. Sylvester Sillanoff.

The nineteen initial members of this new troop then gave their scout promise to their leader, Mrs. Beattie, and they were invested into the troop and pinned by the co-leader, Mrs. Polsgrove. Four more girls will be invested at a later date.

Mothers of the girls witnessed the investiture, and all enjoyed refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Troop 138, Oakland School, has made an addition to their troop: there are now 23 second and third grade girls from the Deep Lake, Crooked Lake and Loon Lake areas in the troop. Meetings will be at the school on Thursday afternoons, from 3 to 4:30 p.m. The leader is Mrs. Fred Wachta and her co-leaders are Mrs. Alex Tegen and Mrs. Ted Schoch. Mrs. Schoch is also troop committee chairman and Mrs. Herbert Prange will be secretary.

One of the recent projects of the troop has been the making of identification tags for the Oakland PTA members, for use at their monthly meetings; the PTA is their sponsor.

The girls have also made several scrap books from old Christmas cards for the children's ward at Lake County Hospital.

Their investiture ceremony will be held Feb. 22. Parents will be invited to attend.

Fox Lake Neighborhood leaders held their monthly meeting at 9 a.m. Wednesday, Feb. 7, at the home of Mrs. Lorraine Boelke.

At this meeting, suggestions were made for a name for their neighborhood, and it was voted to use the name "Odanah," which means "City by the Water." Mrs. Barnard was named Golden Promise chairman; Barbara Carsello is to be Produce chairman for the forthcoming cookie sale.

The group practiced songs for the Golden Promise Pageant and they planned to have an exchange of games at their next meeting, to be held at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Boles.

Mrs. Dorothy Siebert, Fox Lake neighborhood chairman, reminded the girls to bring dolls for the Countryside Rummage and Bake Sale. Plans were also discussed for their roller skating party to be held at Twin Lakes Roller Rink at 7 p.m. Feb. 9. All intermediate troops from Fox Lake were invited.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

The mothers of the girls in Big Hollow Brownie Troop 109 will have a smorgasbord Saturday, Feb. 24, from 5 to 9 p.m. at the school, Routes 12 and 134. Proceeds will go to the troop.

ALL ABOUT BABIES

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council
 By Mrs. Dorothy Middleton, R.N., Pediatric Nursing Consultant

A little foresight and a few precautions can insure the safety of your baby.

Begin by making your home and particularly baby's room, safe. It's easy to get carried away by the need for a super clean floor in baby's room. Clean, yes, but not shiny. A slippery, polished floor invites spills. When you are tending a heavy infant, a polished floor can surely be a menace.

Always have plenty of light around. It's easy to stumble in the dark. Here's a way to make the light switch in baby's room easy to find: Using one of baby's cotton swabs as a brush, outline the light switch with a fluorescent paint. Do this to the switches in dark hallways.

Baby should sleep on a firm mattress without a pillow to avoid any possibility of an accident. This applies to baby's carriage as well as the crib.

When feeding baby, you take an unnecessary risk when you bring your child into your bed. After a weary day of round-the-clock activity, you may doze off while baby is feeding. There's always the risk of baby falling off the bed or of you injuring or smothering an infant lying beside you.

While on the point of feeding, let's not overlook bottle-propping. Although bottle-propping looks innocent enough, a baby can easily get into trouble should he regurgitate. Should this happen, baby may not be able to cough and the milk or formula may, as a result, flow into his lungs.

This brings up another thought. Babies cannot when they're tiny, blow their noses. Use a cotton swab to clear the nostrils before or after bath time.

When dressing and diapering baby, get in the habit of using a pin cushion. Safety pins, ironically, continue to be a safety hazard. Never hold safety pins in your mouth or leave them on a table within baby's reach.

Perhaps the most important safety tip of all is this:

Print, in large letters, the name of your family doctor and his telephone number on a card and tape it in the most prominent place in baby's room. In an emergency, this information will be easy for you or for a baby sitter to find and use instantly.

In And About Our Town

Big "Bill" the buffalo, who ranges on a large fenced-in area next to the Jo-Pat packing center, is one of the proud possessions of Joe Patrovsky.

"Bill" is the last of three buffaloes Patrovsky has owned. Although he eats apples readily (with one gulp), his normal food is comprised of hay and cattle feed. He will be five years old this year.

Being purchased from the Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge, "Bill" was, at one time, a member of the great herd of buffaloes which roam the ranges of Cache, Oklahoma.

The herd in Cache was begun in 1905 when the government set aside a special fenced-in area at the national park there for the preservation of the buffaloes.

Before that time hunters exterminated millions of the mangy bison and it was feared that the breed would be extinct.

The establishment of the buffalo grounds in Oklahoma, located near Fort Sill, prevented this from happening, however, and afforded the opportunity for persons like Joseph Patrovsky to have buffaloes grazing in the back yard.

CUSTODY OF CHILDREN IN MARITAL CASES

At the time a divorce or separate maintenance suit is filed, the minor children of the parties immediately become wards of the court. If the case is disposed of by the entry of a decree of separate maintenance or divorce, the problem of custody remains, because contrary to popular belief the children are not automatically awarded to the victorious or innocent parent.

The judge's discretion in awarding custody is very broad, but the decision he must make is often delicate and difficult. His principal concern and guiding test is to serve the child's best interests.

An agreement as to custody between the parents does not bind the judge. If he believes neither parent is fit to care for the children, he will award custody to some other person, or to an institution.

Various Factors Weighed

Many factors are weighed by the court in determining who shall have custody of the children. For example, he considers the moral fitness of the parents, their condition of health, of wealth, their ability to care for the children, to devote time to them, and the age and sex of the child. Very young children are usually awarded to the mother, if she is a fit person.

Wealth is not conclusive, but is a factor to be considered in the light of the educational and environmental benefits that the child may enjoy.

Visiting Rights

Although custody of the child may be taken from a parent, his right to visit the child periodically is jealously safeguarded. The law recognizes that parents have the right to visit their children, and likewise the child has a right to become acquainted with his parents irrespective of their character, nature or personality.

So long as the parent's conduct during the period of visitation does not impair the child's safety, health, morals or general welfare, periodic visits will be permitted.

Difficult problems confront the judge where the parent who has been awarded custody of a child desires to move his or her home a great distance, thus interfering with the other parent's visitation rights.

Custody Orders Temporary

All custody orders entered in connection with divorce or separate maintenance decrees are temporary, and are subject to being changed by the court at any time for any reason that has a bearing on the best interests and general welfare of the child.

At all times the court may hear and determine questions relating to the child's health, education, support, and living conditions. When necessary or upon change of circumstances, the judge will order changes in custody, regulate rights of visitation, and enter orders for increased support or medical attention.

The law does not seek to supersede the basic right of parents to the custody of their own children unless the parents have shown themselves to be unfit, or have resolved to live separately, thus requiring intervention of the courts.

This column is written to inform and not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without consulting his attorney. Even a slight difference in the facts may change the result under the law.

Courthouse Notebook —

BY LOU DUNKIN

The Lake County Board of Supervisors, which has never been noted for its sweet harmony, seems to be more discordant than ever with three major groups instead of two clashing head-on during most debates.

What makes it difficult to anticipate actions of the board is the lack of a clear line of demarcation such as featured board deliberations when the late Carl Staben, of Waukegan, was leading one part of the board.

The only thing constant on the board is the continued role of Supervisor Emmett Moroney, of Deerfield Township, as a board leader, although his position seems to be more that of an obstructionist than it has been in years past.

There is a substantial part of the board that refuses to line up in a definite bloc and moves back and forth from one side to the other thus maintaining balance and a large measure of confusion.

The board's decision to postpone action on the Public Works Department proposal last week is an example of the way board rivalries have been blocking action in recent weeks.

The question of a county Public Works Department was studied for more than a year by a special Citizens' Committee; their findings were reviewed by a special committee of the County Board, and a high priced firm of consulting engineers made a report on the need.

Yet, when the question finally came before the supervisors, Sam Smith and Frank B. Peers, both from Moroney's township, acted as though they had never heard of the subject.

It is true that Lake County has survived without such a department for the past 100 years, but it is also true that there have been a few changes in the interim.

Some of these objections could have been brought up during previous hearings, but of course the objections might not have been heard by the press in that case.

The present political campaign among Republicans may come to be known by future historians as the "billboard and testimonial dinner" campaign.

So far there have been the Charles Larson Testimonial, the Karl Berning and Associates Victory Dinner, the Mickey Babcox Party Harmony blowout, a series of feasts for Max Wildman of Lake Bluff, and there is a whirling planned for Hans Hanson, of Round Lake Park, and one for Adm. Rick Haskins, also of Lake Bluff.

Most of the candidates have contracted for billboard space so pleas for votes will soon be dotting the countryside as never before in Lake County campaigns.

This could also be known as the "local favorite endorsement" campaign.

State Rep. Robert Coulson got the "favorite son" ball rolling when he garnered Waukegan's endorsement at a meeting of the Waukegan Township Republican Club.

Later the Zion committeemen endorsed Adeline Ged-Maris Lambros for the same Congressional post and then William M. Carroll's neighbors in McHenry county, or at least the precinct committeemen, handed him their backyard approval.

With 12 candidates seeking Rep. Coulson's seat in the Illinois General Assembly, and all of them apparently trying to ride to Springfield on the coattails of Antioch's W. J. Murphy, the legislative aspirants are having a hard time finding ways to stand out in the crowd.

Mundelein Mayor John Noel has hit on a buttonhole campaign as his mark of distinction on the platform.

Some old-timers recall that the late Ralph E. Church always sported a Forget-Me-Not in his lapel, and had considerable success with the gimmick.

Antioch Resident

Attends College

Peter T. Zelen, of Rte. 3, Box 551, Antioch, has enrolled as a freshman for the second semester at Blackburn College, Carlinville.

Zelen, a June 1961 graduate of Antioch Township High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul T. Zelen. In high school he was the winner of a music camp scholarship.

Following his arrival at Blackburn he underwent a series of orientation meetings, counseling sessions, and took a battery of psychological tests required of all freshmen at this liberal-arts college.

He was also assigned a job by the student work committee under the college's "work-study" program. At Blackburn College each student works 15 hours per week at on-campus tasks in partial payment for his education. Blackburn, founded in 1897, is an independent educational institution located in that Central Illinois town.

Inside Antioch High

By Mike Brooks

The Fine Arts Department of Antioch High is preparing for the Spring Musical, "Brigadoon," to be presented March 9 and 10. Miss Della Mae Tronchuk is directing the vocal music and Mr. Joe Ryan is in charge of the instrumentalists. The lead parts are as follows: Jim Bill Cain as Tommy Albright, Julie Turner as Fiona McClaren, Steve Chandler as Jeff Douglas, Sandra Drucker as Meg Brockie, Ken McCle as Charlie Dalaymple, Ellen Huebner as Jean McClaren, and Jerry Berke as Mr. Landy.

Just a little over seventy school days until the Senior Class (The Great Senior Class) of 1962 will graduate. With this day drawing closer and closer many Seniors are making plans for college. Registration fees, tests and more tests, visits, and applications are all part of the yearly "rat race" that every Senior Class goes through.

In June, when we graduate, we will learn that our education didn't hurt us as long as we learn something after graduation. Contrary to popular belief, school isn't really necessary. Geography can be learned from the back seat of a car; arithmetic from trying to get the numbers on a telephone dial, and the alphabet from AAA, CCC, FFA, AMA, ADA, TVA, NASA, AEC, etc. All that is needed to know how to survive, is to be able to dig a fall-out shelter, detect a green light from a red one, and know how to read traffic signs.

Congratulations to the Wrestling Squad who won their match with Lake Forest Friday night at the high school gym! More congratulations go to the basketball team who won a double-header over the weekend!

Both games were very exciting and close—too close for comfort. But our scrappy team fought hard and ended up victors. This weekend both teams are away. Antioch is tied for second place with Round Lake and Warren.

The conference crown is still up for grabs and the Sequoias are in there grabbing awfully hard. They have victory in their minds—Friday night at Elia-Vernon and Saturday night at Round Lake. The game starts at 7 p.m. Come out and see the Sequoias take the conference!

Antioch Sequoits Slip Past Grant Bulldogs

Brownlee sunk an 18 foot jump shot with 28 seconds left to give Antioch the victory margin and halt a spirited second half rally by the Bulldogs.

The all important win moved Antioch into a three-way tie for second place in the conference along with Warren and Round Lake. Grayslake moved into sole possession of first place, 1/2 game in front on the strength of Warren's 84 to 83 victory over Round Lake Saturday. Battling to a 17 to 17 tie at the first quarter mark the Sequoits left the court at intermission with a comfortable 35 to 28 bulge. The Sequoits turned ice cold in the third period managing only five points, their lowest quarter total for the season. Hitting on only one basket out of 17 attempts, the Bulldogs surged back into the lead with a 14 point burst. The score stood at 42 to 40.

After tying the score twice the Bulldogs gained a 3 point advantage at 49 to 46 on two baskets by Patterson and a free throw by Ron Taylor.

With four minutes left two free throws by Doug Lang and a rebound tip by Bud Dittman bounced Antioch back in the lead at 50 to 49. A steal by John Hallwas with 1:30 left gave Antioch a 3 point bulge at 54 to 51.

Grant came roaring back on two free throws by Taylor and a driving lay up to go back in front 55 to 54 with 57 seconds left. That's the way the score stood until 5:27 guard Jim Brownlee scored his only field goal of the evening to give Antioch the victory margin.

Patterson fired a final field goal attempt for the Bulldogs with seven seconds left but missed and Grant was charged for their sixth time out. Brownlee missed on the free throw attempt but the Sequoits gained the ball out of bounds and managed to control it to the final gun. Bob Kubicki led both squads in scoring with 12 points on 4 from the field and 4 free throws. Flaviak followed for the winners with 10 points. Hallwas, whose crucial steal and driving layup late in the fourth quarter turned the tide, collected six points for the evening.

Patterson led the losers with 11 points followed closely by Schlunz with 10. Taylor and Joe Savage added 9 points each.

The game was actually settled from the free throw line with Antioch cashing in on 16 of 22 attempts to the Bulldogs 13 for 24. The Bulldogs outscored the Sequoits from the field 21 to 20.

Antioch had a comfortable 30 to 22 edge in rebounding with Bob Krieger and Doug Lang sharing honors.

The Sequoits Sophs firmed up on third place in the underclass race with a decisive 59 to 30 win.

Antioch moves to Lake Zurich Friday for another conference tilt against Els-Vernon. "Although their record is only 3-9 Els is not a team to be taken lightly," Coach Leon said. Saturday the Sequoits move to Round Lake for an all important game that will decide who remains in the race for the title.
